Through Death to Life

The star is not extinguished when it sets
Upon the dull horizon; it but goes
To shine in other skies, then reappears
In ours as fresh as when it first arose.

The river is not lost when, o'er the rock,
It pours its flood into the abyss below;
Its scattered force regathering from the shock,
It hastens forward with yet fuller flow.

The bright sun dies not when the shadowing orb
Of the eclipsing moon obscures the ray;
It still is shining on, and soon to us
Will burst undimmed into the joy of day.

Thus nothing dies, or only dies to live;
Star, stream, sun, flower, the dewdrop
and the gold.
Each goodly thing, instinct with buoyant hope,
Hastes to put in its purer, finer mold.

-Horatius Bonar
